Re: Engagement Data by School

The following tables represent Coeur d'Alene Public School's first attempt to track engagement rates for remote student learning during soft closures due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Elementary data was self-reported through a teacher survey and represents the percentage of students who have engaged in any type of remote learning activity for the week ending April 27, 2020. The data represents information provided by 182 teachers who responded to the survey.

Middle school and high school data was collected and reported by each school's principal and represents the percentage of students who have engaged in any type of remote learning activity for the week ending April 27, 2020.
